Survey of Barge Canal

Find Out Why $230,000,000 Highway Is Lacking in Use and Why Means Can Be Found for Building It.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Jan. 27.—A sweeping survey of the barge canal will be ordered shortly by the Legislature, Republican leaders at the capitol decided today.

The lawmakers have before them a resolution introduced by Senator Wright, Republican leader of the upper house, and Assemblyman Hutchins, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Assembly, providing for a committee of 15 members to make an investigation of the canal.

The proposed commission would report until February 15, next, and $25,000 would be appropriated for its expense.

In his annual message to the Legislature Governor Smith, after giving reasons to show how the business of the canal has been steadily decreasing for several years, urged that a way be made.

The Republican legislators favor a survey of the canal, according to a statement issued by Senator Knight and Speaker McGinley, for the following reasons:

"1. The tonnage handled on the canal system is less than one-tenth of its capacity and permitting such a situation to continue without attention to remedy it is unjustifiable.

"2. The Republican party always has been the advocate of the canal. The original committee which reported favorably on the construction of the barge canal was appointed by Governor Roosevelt, the referendum measure authorizing its construction was carried during the administration of Governor Odell, and the Republican party should be therefore eager to make the canal a complete success.

"3. We want to know at the hands of experts what the state can do in order to insure the placing of an adequate number of boats on the canal.

"4. Unless some decisive action is taken it is only a question of a very few years before the Legislature will be unable to justify the annual appropriations for canal maintenance, operation and upkeep. The present annual cost, compared with the tonnage handled, create an impossible situation which cannot continue and it is the time to find out if the canal can be made more successful or if so how."

To date the canal has cost the state about $230,000,000.

Flood Damage in South Georgia

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 27.—South Georgia was suffering today from one of the worst floods in history of the section. Five counties were under acres of roaring water, rushing toward the Gulf of Mexico after torrential rains in the northern part of the state.

Cattle have been drowned by the water. Light buildings were carried away like toy houses.

Damage, it is estimated will reach several hundred thousand dollars.

Several towns have appealed for aid from American Red Cross. Relief supplies have been sent in to the distressed.

Train service still was badly disrupted. Washouts on several lines concentrated movements into Atlanta through one channel. Schedules have been abandoned in some places.

On the other side of the southern of states, where the rivers empty into the Atlantic, the situation is as desperate. Newton, county of Baker county, is inundated. One of the 400 residents has been in the town, according to word being here.

Some representatives of the Red Cross have been sent from Atlanta to New York to make a survey of the situation there.

Chief Wood Spoke at State Police School

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood spoke at the Monday session of the state police school at Troy on "Character and Citizenship." This school, which is held annually, is held under the auspices of the New York State Police. Chief Wood has spoken at the annual school sessions for a number of years. He is a member from Kingston of the department in attendance at the school.

Disappearing Not New for Leginska

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 27.—Ethel Leginska, pianist, was missing from her home today, following her mysterious disappearance last night on her way to give a concert recital.

Miss Lucille Oliver, her secretary, said this morning she had heard no word concerning the pianist's whereabouts.

Police have searched the city in vain for trace of her.

London, Jan. 27.—Musical circles were today discussing the strange disappearance in New York of Ethel Leginska, English pianist, who failed to appear when a big audience in Carnegie Hall awaited her.

It was recalled by several of music critics that Leginska had once disappeared under somewhat similar circumstances when scheduled to give a piano recital here. When she reappeared she explained, they said, that she ran away because of a sudden fear that she would not be able to play.

Leginska's disappearance in New York has created somewhat of a sensation in music circles throughout England. Her friends said that she was very nervous during a recent concert and caused considerable commotion by stopping the concert and rebuking a man in the audience who coughed.

Leginska's real name was said to be Ethel Legins. Her family lives in Hull, England.

Quartet Damaged Claire's Place

Justice Webber Imposes Fine of $50 Each With 60 Days' Sentence Each—Miss Winchell's Hearing Wednesday.

Unless John Koziowski of Murray street, Frank Gardeski of Third avenue, this city, and John Corbet and Peter Malla of Port Ewen each pay a fine of $50 they will remain in the Ulster county jail one day for each dollar of the fine. Besides they will each remain 60 days longer as Justice of the Peace Walter Webber of Flatbush, town of Ulster, late Monday afternoon imposed the fines and gave the 60 days jail sentences. The quartet were charged with unlawful assembly and entry committed one day last week when they broke down a door and smashed windows in the place of Jack Claire located on the Saugerties road near Lake Katrine. Warrants were issued and Monday afternoon they were rounded up in this city by Sheriff Herman Wells. Deputy Sheriff Anderson V. Ellisworth, Sergeant James Cunningham and Corporal Alsford of the State Troopers, placed under arrest and taken before Justice Webber where they pleaded guilty. Viola Winchell of Post street, who it is alleged was one of the party, was arrested by a police officer and taken from police headquarters by the sheriff's officers to Flatbush. She pleaded not guilty to the charge and was remanded to jail for a hearing held in $1,000 being fixed. Later, after being taken to the court house, the woman was placed into the custody of Chris J. Flanagan, her attorney, for appearance at a hearing before Judge Webber on Wednesday.

Burglars Busy in Syracuse

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 27.—Although police maintained the utmost vigilance, following the cracking of four safes over the week-end, burglars operated in all parts of the city again last night and today and cracksmen were foiled in attempts on two more safes.

Police today discovered the doors of the Equitable Life Insurance Company and the Unity Life Insurance Company, both in the Snow building, open. In both of these offices were especially large safes and detectives believe that crooks were interrupted while preparing for another pair of "box jobs." Officers placed emergency locks on both doors until employees arrived this morning.

SUPPER AND DANCE AT HOLY CROSS THURSDAY

The ladies of the Holy Cross Church will serve a chicken pie supper at the Holy Cross parish house on Thursday evening, from 5 to 8 o'clock. The menu will include hot roast chicken, gravy, mashed potatoes, beans, vegetable salad, jelly, homemade apple pie and coffee. Mrs. Bailey will cater.

Following the serving of the supper a dance will be held, music being supplied by Zuercher's orchestra.

Charge Jones Was Forgotten

Sam Jones, colored, was arrested and brought to the county jail Monday evening. Charged with having failed to pay a board bill at Glasgow, where he resided, he was brought today before Judge Webber of the town of Ulster for a hearing by Deputy Sheriff Charles McCullough and Deputy Sheriff Ellisworth.

An Ambulance Called

James Bradshaw was called Monday in the ambulance from his home No. 11 West Union street to the Kingston City Hospital.

Appointed to Clerkship

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Jan. 27.—John H. Tait of Whitehall today was appointed by the State Comptroller to a clerkship in the office of the State Comptroller.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE TROLLEY RIDE

Stephen's father was a very rich man. Oh, he was a most enormously rich man.

Stephen lived the life of a very rich little boy. His father had several automobiles and when Stephen wanted to go anywhere it was simply a question of which automobile would be used and whether the chauffeur named Tucker would take him or whether the chauffeur named Simpson would drive the car.

He went to the seashore for two months of the year and to the country for another two months, and south for two of the winter months and to a Northern city for another two months.

The rest of the year he was taken traveling or to the family home in a small place which was just like a village during the week but which became a rich little city for the weekend.

Stephen had often thought it would be nice to be in this place during the week. He had been told of the good time the children had.

He had been told, too, of the school and of the fun they had in the different school teams.

But the family never stayed anywhere long enough for him to get to know the boys and girls in the place. Of course they had houses in these different places but not one of them seemed just exactly like home.

There wasn't much fun in buying anything because there was always so much money that everything seemed too easy to get.

There wasn't much fun when he got anything as he had never had to earn little sums of money or save toward anything.

And he always had a governess with him. He couldn't go to school except in an automobile and he had to have the governess there, too.

She took him to school and came for him, and yet he was not a little boy.

Boys far younger than he was went to school by themselves.

More than that—they looked after sisters and brothers younger than they were.

It was just before they went South, when Stephen was spending a little time in the city home, that he had a plan.

It was a beautiful plan and he worked it all out very, very carefully.

Once during recess he had talked to a boy across the fence from the school yard.

They were building in that lot, next to the school yard, and a number of children had come there to play while the workmen were having their lunch.

Stephen had heard from the boy of the things that he did and Stephen

He Had Talked to a Boy Across the Fence.

In turn had told some things of the way he lived.

It was after this talk that Stephen had made his plans.

One day, just as school was letting out, he rushed into the school yard, and it was not until he had disappeared that anyone noticed he had gone.

He had hurried! He had climbed the fence and had lowered himself into the vacant lot below.

Then he had rushed up the street and around the corner. There he had taken a trolley.

As he got on the trolley he pulled a dollar bill from his pocket.

"How much is it?" he asked.

"Five cents," the conductor answered, and gave Stephen a great deal of change.

Then Stephen sat down in the trolley. There were many other passengers, too. There were quite a number of children, older ones alone and younger ones with their mothers or with older brothers and sisters.

The car stopped every time anyone wanted to get off or on at the corner, and every one seemed to have a say in the matter.

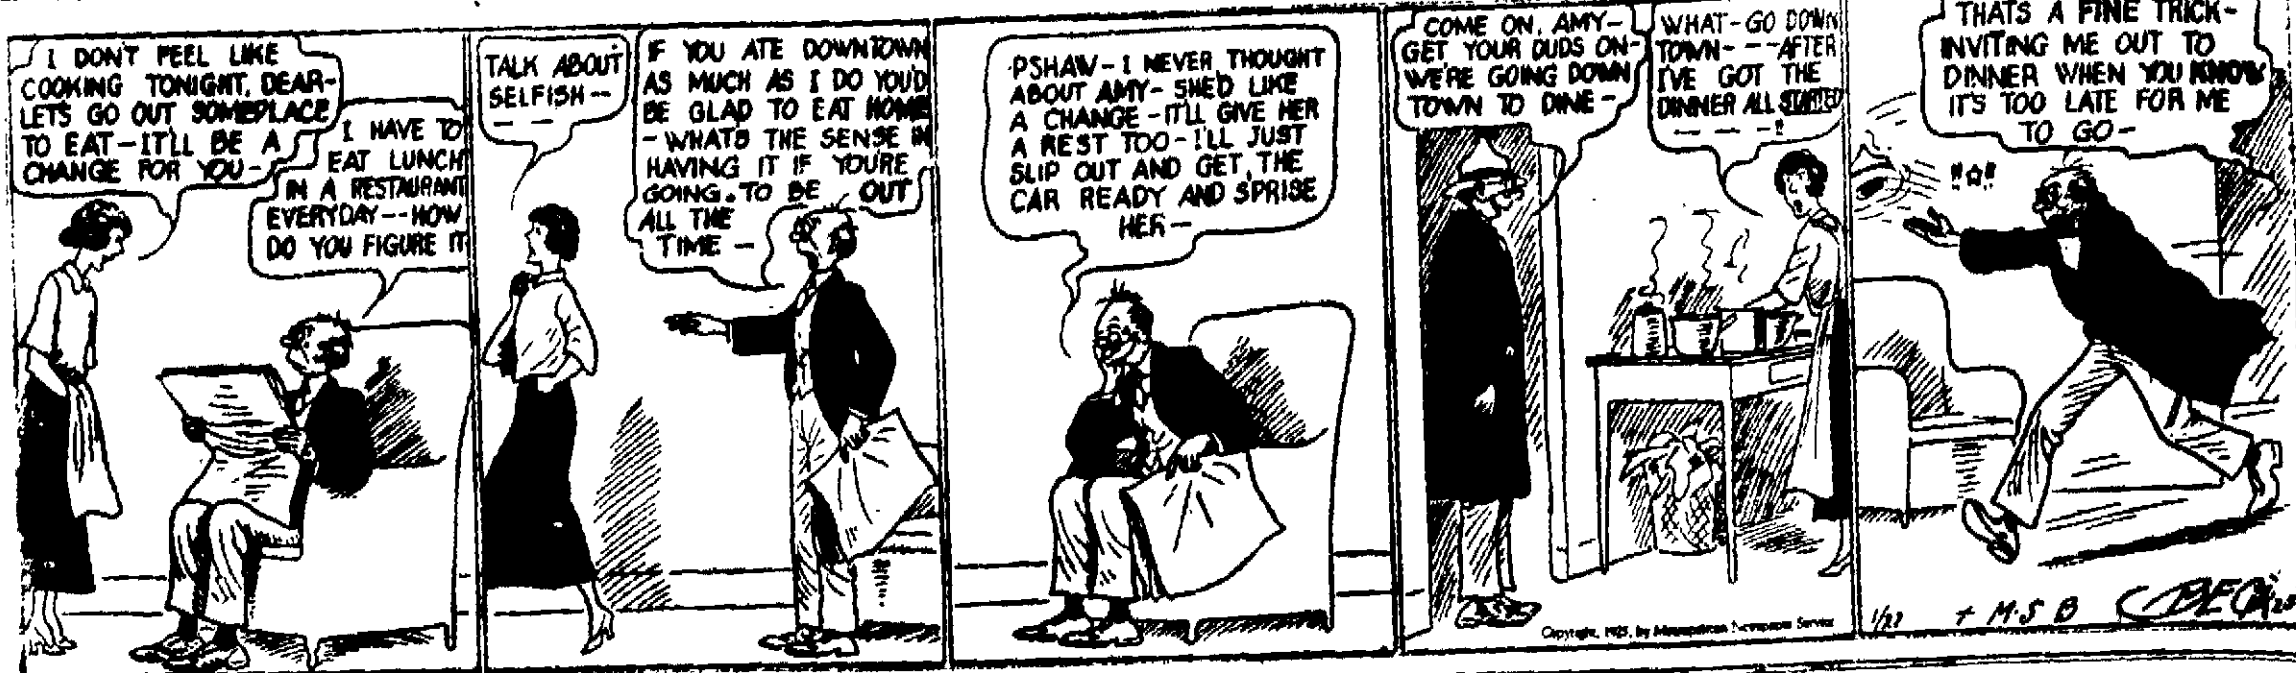

It was thrilling. He sat right opposite other people—wonderful people he had never seen before!

He got off at the street nearest his home. He met his mother who was greatly upset.

"What had he been doing? And didn't he know he had overstepped when the chauffeur and the governess had found him gone when they reached his school?"

Yes, he probably had been quite bad, and he was never allowed money again—everything was paid out for him so he would not have the change to take in trolley fare, but he had had that ride and he was happy.

HOME-MADE CANDIES

This is the time of the year when a box of good candy is appreciated.

The following are a few good ones worth trying:

Butterscotch.—Take two cupsful of granulated sugar, one-half cupful of molasses, one cupful of butter and cook until the mixture forms a hard crack in cold water. Put one cupful of chopped peanuts in the bottom of a well-buttered dripping pan and pour over the boiling hot sirup. When cool mark into squares and break apart.

Divinity Fudge.—Take two cupsful of sugar, two-thirds of a cupful of corn sirup, one-third cupful of water, both without stirring until it forms a brittle ball in cold water. Pour the hot sirup over two well-beaten egg whites and one-half cupful of seedless raisins, one-half cupful of chopped walnuts and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Pour into a greased pan and when cool cut into squares.

Raisin Fudge.—Put one-half cupful of milk, two cupsful of sugar, one square of unsweetened chocolate in a pan and cook without stirring until the mixture forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from the fire, add a tablespoonful of butter, and cool.

Then add one-half cupful of raisins, one teaspoonful of vanilla and beat until the mixture is creamy. Pour into buttered pan and mark into squares as soon as it is cool enough.

Chocolate Delight.—Break one pound of chocolate into the top of a double boiler, melt, and add two unbeaten eggs, stir until combined. Add one cupful of blanched almonds, sliced thin and beat well, turn on a buttered plate and mold into one large ball. When partly chilled form into small balls and roll them in sifted powdered sugar.

Peanut Brittle.—Shell a quart of peanuts, remove the brown skins and roll or chop, not too fine. Put one pound of sugar into a perfectly smooth omelet pan, place over the fire and stir constantly until melted to a sirup; add the nuts with one-fourth teaspoonful of soda and pour into a well-buttered dripping pan. Break into pieces when cold.

Break into pieces when cold.

Chocolate Delight.—Break one pound of chocolate into the top of a double boiler, melt, and add two unbeaten eggs, stir until combined. Add one cupful of blanched almonds, sliced thin and beat well, turn on a buttered plate and mold into one large ball. When partly chilled form into small balls and roll them in sifted powdered sugar.

Peanut Brittle.—Shell a quart of peanuts, remove the brown skins and roll or chop, not too fine. Put one pound of sugar into a perfectly smooth omelet pan, place over the fire and stir constantly until melted to a sirup; add the nuts with one-fourth teaspoonful of soda and pour into a well-buttered dripping pan. Break into pieces when cold.

without making the silver and gold ingots. The metal must be imported from other countries, and this year there has been sent from New York to London for India more than $2,000,000 worth each of gold and silver.—Chicago Journal.

In extending the practice side of life it showed the ways and difficulty under which there is an ever-increasing pressure within each case of war: a spirit for which there is no limited capacity and an unformidable surroundings — Marie Perrell.

A Practical Ever Popular Style.

4190. Very comfortable and easy to develop in this simple model. It is nice for cambric, nainsook, crepe, flannel or flannellette. The collar may be omitted. Simple stitching, hem stitching or fancy braid will form a suitable finish.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size requires 4 1/4 yards of 36 inch material.

A notice of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Krescham, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Real silver is said to be "bull market." The term comes from the company hall of the guild of gold and silversmiths of London, where, 400 years ago gold and silver articles began to be assayed and marked with a stamp that watched for their being genuine.

ALBANIA LITTLE KNOWN COUNTRY

People Cling to Language and Customs With Vigorous Tenacity.

Washington, D. C.—Rebel attacks upon Tirana, capital of Albania, afford only one more episode of the kind in Albania's stormy history, says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"The country was created in 1912 to avert a World war," continues the bulletin, "and until the World war did come it was Europe's newest nation, though it was peopled by the oldest race in the Balkans. During the world struggle five countries occupied parts of it; Germany, Austria and Bulgaria controlling northern districts while France and Italy divided the south.

"Not for Albania, try Europe."

"It was Edward Gibbon who once called Albania 'a country within sight of Italy, which is less known than the interior of America.' More than a century later the tables were turned when a letter from England for Albania was sent to the United States and returned with the notation 'Not for Albania, try Europe.' Even today when the war's aftermath has carried Americans into many obscure corners of Europe, Albania remains almost unvisited, unknown, and seldom mentioned in the day's news.

"The Albanians are a rugged, primitive mountain people who, it has been said, 'occasionally die from ordinary disease, but more often from differences of opinion.' They are clannish along with the French, Portuguese and Walloons as members of the Greco-Latin branch of the Aryan race. Their mountain life has fostered a passionate love of independence and their customs with a vigorous tenacity, even when groups are transplanted to other lands. The name of the Albanians, meaning 'people of the snow-land,' has been fastened upon them by their neighbors; they call themselves 'Skipe-tari,' or mountaineers. One important tribe, the Catholic Mirdites, bitterly oppose the settlement of any Mohammedans in their vicinity.

"Along the Shkumbia river, the Roman Egnatian way still displays its traces. This stream divides the Christian Albanians into two groups. The Roman Catholic Ghegs live to the north, the Greek Orthodox Tosks live to the south.

"An Albanian, Marco Bossaris, is referred to in the famous lines, 'At midnight in his guarded tent,' George Castriot, better known to history as Scanderbeg, is their national hero.

"The home town of Scanderbeg, victor in a score or more fierce battles with the Turks, is Krola (or Kruga) located on a picturesque precipice of Albania's westernmost mountain chain.

"Tirana is in the west central part of Albania, 20 miles inland from Durazzo, the country's principal port and former capital. Until the outbreak of the World war the only well-paved highway in the country linked these two cities. Not a mile of railroad has yet been built. The government seat was moved inland as a measure of protection against such invasions as that which overtook Elime.

An imposing frontier town. "Tirana lacks the aspects of a frontier settlement that one would expect. It has rich bazaars, homes that seem truly palatial in comparison with the primitive village mud houses, and mosques of genuine beauty, facing broad, well-paved streets. The streets are spotted with squares where fountains play and market places where women sell embroidered brass work and intricately carved pipes for smokers. The city's population is less than 15,000.

"An Albanian family is sufficient unto itself. Except for the trading in a few cities—in Scutari, Koryria and Argirocastro, besides those already mentioned, there is no semblance of an economic system.

"A woman in a country district works hard, but she is no mere drudge. She makes bread of maize and cooks it over an open hearth fire. The remaining wood ashes she uses in place of soap. She weaves woolen cloth and plaits black braid for the garments she makes of it.

"The folklore of these country folk is extensive and remains to be studied. There are tales galore of the 'vill' eye,' the casting of spells and witchcraft. Many of these have a crude basis of utility. One observer points to a widespread belief in the 'Shtriga,' or witchwoman, who has the power to decrease her size to that of a fly, crawl through keyholes and cracks, and suck her victim's blood. He wonders whether the malaria-carrying mosquito may not have given rise to this story."

Divorce Decree, 2,000

Years Old, Discovered

Berlin.—Thebes was the original word, according to the Zetochristi Paar Kulturgeschichte and Biologische Familienkunde, which discovered a document recently discovered in an Egyptian tomb, alleged to be 2,000 years old and the first divorce decree in reported history, which is thoroughly authenticated.

This decree is in the Demotic dialect, bearing the signature of a deity named Thet. It does not indicate the ground upon which the divorce was granted. Four witnesses attested their signatures to the reverse side of the document.

Brown Chiffon Velvet Trimmed With Kolinsky

Showing luxuriously trimmed costume suit of brown chiffon velvet, with kolinsky trimming. It is a three-piece affair. The bodice is heavily embroidered in gold and red.

Double-Breasted Coat—Four or Six Buttons

The overcoat of the moment is one that can be used with equal success as a morning town wrap or as a useful garment to slip on after a round of golf, says a Paris fashion writer in the New York Herald. It is cut on the lines of a man's overcoat, double-breasted with four or six buttons, slit up the back, either plain or with a two-inch belt just across the back to the side seams. This is made in fancy English suitings and tweeds and is principally seen in shades of brown, pepper-and-salt or beige.

Attractive and likely to attain a real vogue are the little sports suits shown by Yel in her midseason opening of winter fashions. Made of all kinds of warm woolen fabrics, mostly with a rough surface, they have short little straight jumpers that leave off abruptly just below the normal waistline. They have a wide hem at the bottom on which is placed a line of small buttons at the center front. These buttons are carried on straight down the center of the skirt, which has its inverted knife plaiting in the front on either side of the row of buttons, giving a line that is new, practical and very effective.

The jumper type of sports costume is often turned into a three-piece by the addition of a shoulder cape reaching to about the base of the hip line, fastening with a narrow cross-over double strap underneath. Straight little jackets, too, are often worn, made of the same material as the skirt which may be of tweed, duxton or kasha.

After a long vogue for the group of narrow knife plaits at the side to give fullness, the new sports skirts are made in wrap-over envelope fashion with only one wide plait at the side. For the woman who drives her own car these skirts are made with wide box plaits in front, stitched down for some six inches from the waist and then left free. This is a very practical mode and is becoming as well.

Peaked Crown Becoming to Majority of Women

There are so many different variations of the peaked crown that it is becoming to practically all types; for instance, there is the four-pointed crown tip and the three-pointed tip, the creased or helmet ridge that runs from side to side or from back to front, or the ridge that is turned over in quite a roll from one side to the other, or from the back to the front.

The peaked or pointed tip is more suitable to the young person. The helmet ridge type which runs from side to side, no matter in what way it is accomplished, is better for the older woman with the heavier type face, for it gives her the width that is so necessary for the stouter and larger face.

Blue for Evening Wear Is Much in Limelight

Smart coats of velvet or fur, cloths trimmed with light-colored furs, are features of the mode. While foxes dyed light blue, or a wheat shade known as Ne are also used on these coats.

Evening gowns are mostly of velvet or chiffon, heavily embroidered with beads and revealing much use of gold and silver combinations. Almost all shades of blue are expressed in gowns for formal wear.

A broad wrap made with a short cape effect was completed with a small felt hat of light blue, having a crystal and rhinestone pin as its only ornament.

Seams Important

The underarm seams of tailored frocks have become important as the point where tailored decorations, usually buttons, are introduced.

MILTON.

Milton, Jan. 26.—The Atlantic and Pacific two store started business last week in the Miller building on Main street. Barrett McNichols, one of the well known sons of the town, has been made manager of the store. David Lowery of Poughkeepsie and one of the A. and P. regular

WOMEN EVERYWHERE say:

"Chipso is the greatest labor-saver I have ever found"

Grocers tell us that, in all their retail experience, they have never known a product to sell as fast as Chipso.

There must be a real reason for such a phenomenal success.

There is not only one, but there are a dozen. Let Chipso users tell them in their own words.

A Louisville woman saves 2 hours every washday

This woman does the washing for six people every week. Our representative took down her comments word for word:

"I got a package of Chipso the other day, and tried it on my washing. Believe me, it was a big washing, too. It's wonderful: that washing would have taken me four hours normally, but I had it hanging up to dry in about two hours, and my clothes and bed-linens were as white as snow and looked like new. Besides, I wasn't worn out as I usually am on washday.

"Chipso is the most marvelous thing in the way of soap I have ever tried, and I think I've tried them all. You can count on me buying Chipso from now on."

This Boston housewife uses Chipso for everything

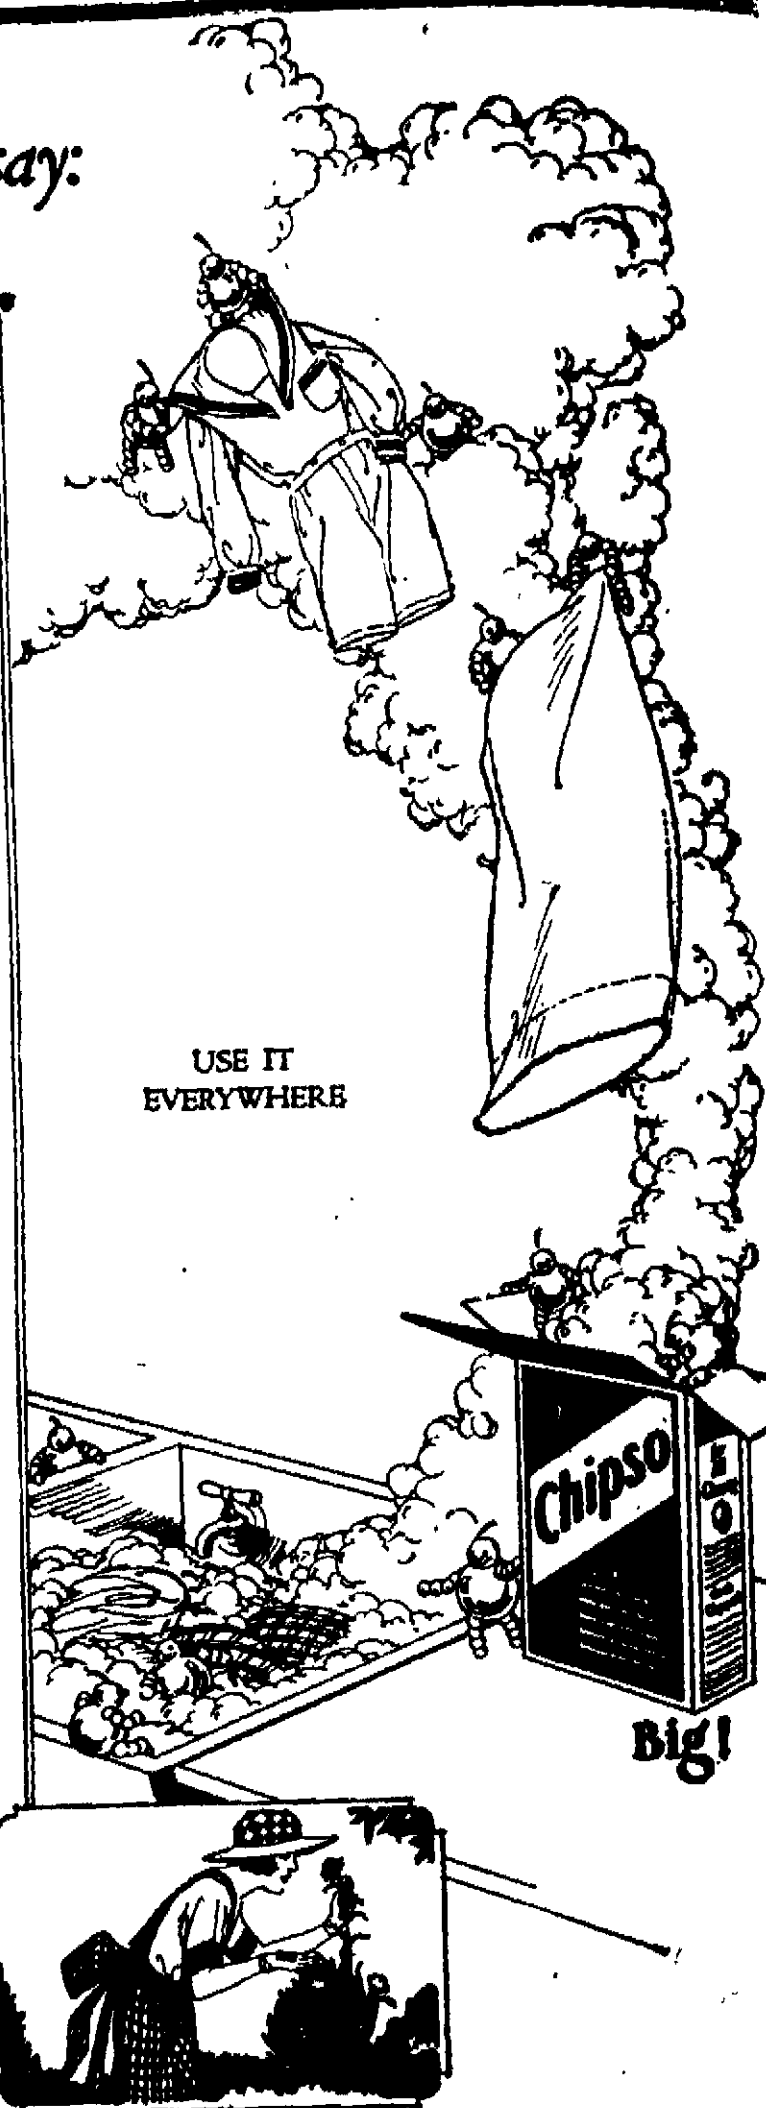

She was talking with a grocer. This is what she said:

"I'm glad you sell Chipso. I've become tired of feeling that I must buy a soap of some form for washing dishes, another for the washing machine, another for this and another for that. Do you know that Chipso will do wonderfully for all purposes where a household soap is needed? You can't sell me anything at twice the price that will do half as well."

You can buy Chipso at any good grocery. Two sizes, both large. Packed in blue and orange boxes. Try it today.

Atmosphere of Unrest Given By Complicated Designs

Vigorous whorls and crossing and re-crossing of designs give a restless effect. Any one who is inclined at all to be "fussy" or nervous adds a large per cent to the atmosphere of unrest when she chooses such designs. She should use as many single tone and plain designs as possible. (Copyright, 1925, Associated Editors, Inc.)

The ladies of the St. James Church have organized the St. James Sewing Auxiliary which will work under the United Catholic Charities.

On account of the storm last Tuesday, the entertainment which was to have been given that evening at the Methodist Church, was postponed until the evening of February 2.

Saturday evening, January 21, the ladies of All Saints Church will give a dinner at the residence of Mrs. John Woodcock from six to 8 o'clock.

Several of our people connected with the Milton Presbyterian Church attended the church to church conference at the Highland Presbyterian Church last week.

The annual business meeting of the First Presbyterian Church will be held in the church parlor Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Elders are to be chosen to take the place of W. A. Gooding and G. P. Dwyer, whose terms have expired and to also conduct any other important business that may come up before the meeting.

5,000,000 Women Have adopted this new way

IN fairness to yourself you should know about this new way in personal hygiene—employed today by 5 million women. At least you should try it for yourself.

This new way is Kotex. It is a super-absorbent sanitary pad made of Cellucotton—5 times as absorbent as cotton. It absorbs instantly 10 times its own weight in moisture.

Each Kotex pad is an active deodorant, impregnated with a new secret deodorant.

Kotex is easily disposed of—just like a piece of tissue.

Packed in sanitary waterproof packages of 12—Kotex comes in 2 sizes: Regular, and Kotex-Super (extra large). Get Kotex Deodorant, in the blue box with white stripes, at druggists.

Here's the Latest—Cod Liver Oil in Tasteless Tablets

Weak, Run-Down People—Full of Vitamins. No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out. Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your drug-gist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinniest grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamin food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will find extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of cough syrup.

Thin, run-down, anemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in four weeks, a very sickly child, and nine, twelve pounds in seven months and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. Any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only 40 cents for 60 tablets—and don't forget that they are really workhorses for feeble old folks.

Get McCoy's, the original and genuine, and beware of imitations.

Sun Yat Sen Likely to Die

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Peking, Jan. 27.—The condition of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, dictator of South China, is grave and his recovery is doubtful, it was said today.
An operation was performed on Sun last night following his entrance into the American Rockefeller Hospital for liver trouble.
American physicians who performed the operation discovered a malignant tumor from which death might result, they said.

A Brief Account of the Jones Case.
Beneath this old Bill Jones is laid a guinea victim of the Ladies Aid. His life was shrouded in dyspeptic gloom. But restless cooking brought him to the tomb.

Diverse the paths that lead to men's decay. But Bill was shipped the dietetic way. Inverse, the ratio of his mournful lot. The more he cooked and sweated the less he got.

Though rude the verse let sacred truth be told. His beautiful wife was young but Jones was old. His courage strong in life's declining day. And up the fretted aisle a blushing bride he led.

Now this fair dame whom Jones admired so much. Could her own virtues like an artist touch. Surveiled in scorn each humble pot and pan. And rigged his household on a scientific plan.

The dear enthusiast (as he deemed her) Just and severe displeasure if he read a book. Her scolding voice soon echoed through the house. And thus she addressed her poor bewildered spouse.

My dear though much I might, I do not now complain. Of fruitless toil and labor spent in vain. But it is my opinion men were formed to look. At other objects than a dog eared book.

Thus my affections have been deeply tried. With other food your mind shall be supplied. At this without remorse the heartless dame. Consigned his precious volumes to the flame.

And now the gentle reader well may dread. To hear what various compounds Jones was fed. Short is the tragic tale for soon alas. Jones being trampled was obliged to pass.

Had he been nourished well with homely cheer. A wholesome sandwich and a glass of beer. Oh then beneath these sculptured stones. Had not been found the bones of Jones.

My weeping friends permit me to advise. Restrain your sorrow and dry up your eyes. Abate your transports now, and grieve no more. If Jones was shipwrecked he has found the shore.

Early French Reformers
The Waldensians, early reformers, were organized about 1170, by Peter Waldo of Valdo, a merchant of Lyons, France. Their principal centers were in the Piedmont, Provence and Dauphine Alps.

ALAN MACKENZIE.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, Jan. 27.—The Sunday school of the Methodist Episcopal Church will hold its annual banquet at the church on Friday evening, January 30.

Mrs. Ed Vanderlyn entertained a few friends last Monday evening. Miss Emma H. Johnson spent Saturday and Sunday in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. Potter drove to Walden last Monday evening, where they were guests at the Women's Club "Gentlemen's Night" entertainment, a one-act comedy being a feature of the evening. They spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Weber, returning home Tuesday morning.

Mrs. H. J. Shurtler is spending several weeks with her daughter, Catherine, who is attending school at Jenkintown, Pa.

Mrs. S. F. Jellie has been ill for some time with a severe cold and threatened with pneumonia. She is improving, but still confined to her bed. Her daughter, Mrs. Countryman, of Poughkeepsie, is caring for her.

The annual chicken supper of St. Mary's Church is booked for Wednesday evening at Hunt Memorial Hall. All arrangements have been completed and a splendid supper and a good time are promised. Splendid music has been engaged for dancing, which will begin at 8:30, and card games will start at the same time for those who wish to play. Those who recall the splendid time enjoyed by all last year, will need no great urging to be present on this occasion.

Norman Young, of Bridgeport, Conn., spent last week end in town. Miss Maude Loring will return to her home on Circle avenue next week where she will be pleased, to meet all former patrons.

Ulfster Palmer underwent an operation for removal of tonsils at the Veterans' Memorial Hospital last Saturday, Drs. O'Leary and Coles performing the operation.

George D. Cook Post, No. 111, of the American Legion, is making large plans for their ball to be held on Friday evening, January 30th. Special music will be rendered by the Vernon Club orchestra of New York. The entertainment and special dances will be under the personal direction of Joe Dealy. Proceeds of the ball will go to the Veterans' Memorial Hospital and Cook Post.

Miss Eleanor Borton, county director of the Girl Scouts of Ulster county, paid a visit to the "Dogwood Troop" of the Reformed Church on Friday afternoon, January 16th. The "Dogwoods" were all out to meet her and enjoyed a pleasant afternoon with their welcome visitor.

Abram Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Moore, will take part in the Edison Club program to be broadcasted on Saturday evening, January 31st. Abram will play the Cavatina, by Raff, and another selection.

Mrs. Otto Johnson is spending some time in Brooklyn and New York city, visiting relatives and friends. Miss Margaret Moore is spending several days visiting with her cousin, Miss Ethel Schwab, in Saugerties. As a reward for good work done this season (they have not yet lost a game) Coach Tutthill McDowell took eight members of the Ellenville High School basketball team to Kingston last Wednesday evening, to see the fifth and deciding game between the Kingston League team and the famous Celtics.

William A. Hoar has been confined to his home for a week or more threatened with pneumonia.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

FIRE ENGINES.
The first fire-engine introduced into America was received at Boston from England 246 years ago today, January 27, 1689.

This fire engine was a strong cylinder of oak, placed upon wheels, furnished with pumps, air chambers, and a suction pipe of strong leather. The end for receiving the water was provided with a strainer.

In case the suction pump could not be used the water was supplied to the container by buckets passed from hand to hand. It required the labor of three men to work the pump plunger and direct the nozzle.

Few improvements were made in the methods of fighting fire until the middle of the last century, when steam engines were introduced. The first successful steam engines were used in Cincinnati in 1853 and within five years St. Louis had eight, Cincinnati seven and New York three, Brooklyn two and Philadelphia and Boston one each. It was about this time that paid fire departments were inaugurated. Baltimore and Cincinnati being among the leaders in this innovation. In 1858 the latter city paid 400 men $60 per month each on the paid fire department.

CATHERINE HOWARD.
Catherine Howard was the fifth wife of Henry VIII, of England. She was the daughter of Lord Edmund Howard, and Joyce his wife. Her marriage to Henry VIII proved prejudicial to the Reformation, Catherine being unfriendly to the Protestants.

She gained such an ascendancy over the king that he gave public thanks to God over the happiness he enjoyed with her. But the next day Archbishop Crammer came to him with the information that the queen was unfaithful to him. Henry would not at first believe this and on Catherine's guilt being clearly proven, he wept. She was tried, found guilty and executed on Tower Hill in 1542, seventeen months after her marriage. Catherine acknowledged that she was not innocent at the time of her marriage, but persisted in asserting her fidelity to the king since their marriage.

HOWE'S SEWING MACHINE.
The first sewing machine built by Elias Howe, was given a private demonstration by its inventor 79 years ago today, January 27, 1846. Sewing machines had previously been constructed by Thomas

Saint, an Englishman, in 1790. Duncan, also English, in 1804. Adams and Dodge, Americans, in 1816. Thimmonier, a Frenchman, in 1834, and by Walter Hunt, an Englishman, in the same year.

Howe's machine was the first really practical invention of its kind. He was a workman employed in a Boston machine shop, and worked out his sewing machine idea in his spare moments. Several months after the first trial Howe secured an American patent, but was unable to secure the capital necessary to commence the manufacture of his invention. He had no better success in England, and returned to America as a sailor before the mast, as he had no funds to pay his passage. During his absence abroad others began the manufacture of machines similar to Howe's, and for a time it seemed that he would be deprived of all the fruits of his labors. Eventually the courts granted him justice, and he realized over two million dollars from his invention before the patent expired.

"GRADUATION DAY."

MEN AND WOMEN IN NEWS OF THE DAY

Mrs. MARY MACSWINEY & JULIA MOROSINI
Mr. NICHOLAS LONGWORTH & MARTIN MADDEN.

Julia Morosini, who inherited $500,000 from her father, a partner of the late Jay Gould, is under heavy guard at her mansion at Riverside N. Y., for reasons no one will divulge. Miss Morosini created a sensation several years ago when she eloped with and married Arthur Werner, New York City mounted policeman, who saved her life in a runaway. Later the marriage was annulled. Werner is dead. Backers of Representative Martin Madden, of Illinois, candidate for Speaker of the next House of Representatives against Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, declare delegations of four more States have enlisted under his banner. Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the famous hunger-striking Lord Mayor of Cork, has arrived in New York without a Free State passport, to "reveal the terrible conditions in Ireland." She has been in two hunger strikes herself.

A GAY NATE IN BLOUSES.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

Never has fashion been in a more riotous mood, and only the brightest hues comes anywhere near expressing this carnival spirit which has descended upon us. The question of color is on everyone's tongue.

Among spring hues are lettuce and emerald greens, and all shades of blue, from navy—as a substitute for black—to the soft gray-blue known as pervenche, a shade which rates high at southern resorts.

Blouse, blouse, and all these charming browns continue to be approved, while reds, from the vivid lacquer and lipstick to soft bois de rose, are liked in prints and in solid colorings. The violine shades are also slated for favor.

The all-white blouse is often piped with color, and brightened by a cherry tie. Sometimes glass or porcelain buttons in color are used, or crystal or bone ones are fastened by colored thread. There is always the possibility of adding color by means of a gay handkerchief, an expected note, apparently, since so many blouses are equipped with pockets.

V necklines, as the sketches attest, are rather well liked this season, and are certainly more generally flattering than rounded ones. The overblouse is the darling of the gods of fashion, whether it be worn with a tailored suit or just as the top of a separate skirt.

MUSKOGON MACHINE COMPANY TO LOCATE IN NEWBURGH.

Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce's industrial committee, Newburgh has secured a factory that means much for the city's prominence in the commercial and manufacturing line. The has been contracted for, the payment made thereon, and it is expected that spring will not be advanced when the Muskogon Machine Co. of Muskegon, Mich., have its works established and running order in the Newburgh industrial center, adjoining the house of W. L. Smith on South Main street, west of South Robinson.

An Erie spur that is to enter the works and provide cars to convey the product to all sections of the country has been signed. Plans have been prepared for the building and bids solicited for the construction.

The industry is to manufacture machinery to be used in wood working. It is no new invention, and the company has a plant at present employing 300 skilled mechanics in Muskegon. It also has a branch somewhat smaller than the one to be erected here already in operation in Canada.

But the Newburgh shop is not to be a branch; for, from the Michigan establishment, will be brought skilled men and their families. The remaining help will be hired in Newburgh and vicinity.—Newburgh News.

Prominent Professors on NYU-WJZ "Air College" Faculty

Complete proof of the practical value of education by radio is expressed in the announcement of the Spring Term of the New York University "Air College" to be broadcast by station WJZ of the Radio Corporation of America.

The entire educational radio program, comprising fifteen weeks of nightly lectures, was chosen by the radio students themselves. This is the first time that so comprehensive an instruction schedule has been arranged in answer to popular requests.

New York University has definitely included education by radio in its activities by incorporating the "Air College" in the Extramural Division of the university. Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown recently appointed Professor Henry C. Hathaway as Director of the "Air College" to prepare the program and outline future developments of this new department of the university.

The list of professors and instructors who will follow the radio lectures comes during the Spring Term includes some of the greatest names in the educational world. Perhaps the best known is Professor Marshall S.

Brown, Dean of the Faculties of New York University, who will give the first part of the series of lectures on American History. This particular radio faculty will provide the radio listener with a more famous group of instructors than is ordinarily employed by college or university students anywhere.

The complete faculty, with the subjects which each will cover for the radio listener, is as follows: Marshall S. Brown, Ph.D., A.M., Dean of the Faculties of New York University, "American History"; Randolph Somerville, A.R., Director of Dramatic Art, "Drama"; George F. Collins, A.M., M.B.A., "Public Speaking"; Homer D. Landerer, A.B., M.A., "Public Speaking"; Ernest R. Lilley, Sc.D., "Mineral Resources of the United States"; Alvin C. Twelve subjects will be broadcast in courses of from three to fifteen lectures during the fifteen week term between January 31st and April 24th. These will range in scope from the purely cultural subjects as literature and drama to the commercial phases of advertising and engineering. An experiment in examination of the radio students will be conducted in connection with the course of American History. A syllabus has been prepared covering the work of the course. This is designed to aid the student in his daily preparation for the weekly lectures. Upon the completion of this course examination papers will be mailed to all students so requesting to be returned within a limited time for correction and grading. This is an experiment in the "Air College" and it is hoped that it will be a valuable one. The "Air College" students will be graded on the basis of their attendance and the quality of their work. The "Air College" will be a valuable one for the radio listener.

Several interesting facts concerning the public states in educational material are disclosed in the spring schedule for the NYU-WJZ Air College. American History is the most popular subject, fifteen lectures having been allotted to that course. Drama, Aesthetics, Advertising, Engineering, American Literature, Business, Economics, Mineral Wealth of the United States, and Public Speaking are of almost equal general appeal, with six lectures each. The "Air College" will be a valuable one for the radio listener. The "Air College" will be a valuable one for the radio listener. The "Air College" will be a valuable one for the radio listener.

Brooklyn Plays Here Wednesday

Wednesday evening, at the local armory court, the Brooklyn team of the Metropolitan League will make its first appearance here in the race for second half honors. The Morgenweckers gave a wonderful exhibition in the previous game at the local court and the good work is looked forward to.

In the first half race the Visitation squad was not very impressive but this half is coming near its stride of last season, when it won the championship. At present the Brooklyn team is sitting pretty at the top rung of the ladder in league standing.

In the line-up Wednesday evening the Brooklynites may start a line-up new to local fandom. Willie McDonald, said to be going great, is now a member of the Visitation outfit. These teams will meet on Saturday evening at the Brooklyn court.

WALKER-FLOWERS BOUT SCHEDULED FOR MARCH

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 27.—Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, will meet Tiger Flowers, Atlanta, Ga., negro, in a twelve round no decision bout at the National Sportsmen's Club, Newark, N. J., late in March, according to reports today. It is said that the managers of both boxers have agreed to terms, the match being contingent upon Walker beating Ted Moore, of England, next Monday. Walker is soon to leave for the Pacific coast.

Leslie Mann Kept Busy Training and Coaching

Leslie Mann, outfielder with the Braves the past season, is about as well known in college athletic circles as he is on the major league circuits, for "Les" generally devotes his winters to training and coaching in the college field, and he doesn't confine himself entirely to baseball, being a good instructor in all forms of athletics. During his college days he starred as an all-around athlete. Mann has spent more than ten years under the big tent, serving with Boston, the Cubs, the Cards and the Reds. He starred one season in the Federal league, in 1915. He is thirty-five years old.

DEANS ADVISE CURB ON COLLEGE SPORTS

Athletics Must Be Kept Free From Commercialism.

Football and all other forms of intercollegiate sports must be kept from commercialism or eliminated altogether, according to presidents, chancellors and deans of leading universities of the Middle West.

The college heads, asked for their views on the recent statement of Prof. Robert C. Angell of the University of Michigan, in which he suggested that the abolition of intercollegiate athletics and paid coaches might be necessary to preserve the American colleges for educational purposes, gave rather divergent views and different suggestions, but in the main they were about unanimous in declaring intercollegiate athletics must be curbed.

Samuel Avery, chancellor of the University of Nebraska, struck the keynote for most of the college presidents when he suggested a "middle course" between commercialized football and the regular college curriculum of studies.

"Purely as an experiment," Chancellor Avery said, "I would like to see some institution hold a big athletic contest without rate receipts. I presume, however, that this could not be made practical until a utopia is established."

"Athletics, as they are now conducted, involve the expenditure of too much money and the competition to secure miracle coaches is too keen. Commercialism should be curbed."

Avery defended college athletics, however, in the following language: "In European universities, with no organized athletics, there is a lack of wholesome excitement not conducive to clean living. Youths desire emotional outlet and I can think of no better means than through organized athletics. Many youths not intellectually inclined are drawn to our colleges by athletics and then become deep scholars."

Chesbro Aided Marberry

In Washington's brilliant victory over the Glens, the memory of one man who played a part was lost sight of.

Back in 1903, when Clarke Griffith managed New York in the American League, Jack Chesbro was his star pitcher, as valuable as Johnson is to the Nats. This spring Griffith, remembering Chesbro's standing as a pitcher, signed him to coach Washington's many rookie pitchers.

At Tampa, Chesbro was impressed by Marberry, and the world that he would be a great pitcher. He spent much time working with the Nats' great relief pitcher. No doubt Chesbro's instruction had much to do with Marberry's great record.

Mullaney Met Hardship With a Cheerful Smile

Don Mullaney never was a great ball player, but he was of that worth-while kind that can meet misfortune with a smile and he had a humor that bubbled over. A good many years ago he was signed by Columbus in the American association to play first base, but fell down on the job and Columbus bought Dummy Kuhn from Indianapolis to replace him. Mullaney was handed his release after the day's game in Columbus and was in the club house packing up and preparing to go, he knew not where.

Near the Columbus ball park in those days was an army barracks and as at all posts at sunset a signal gun is fired. A recruit had joined Columbus that day and never had heard the sunset gun. He was in the club house with Mullaney when the evening gun "boomed" out with its crashing roar.

"What was that?" asked the startled rookie.

"That," said Mullaney with a grim smile, "is Dummy Kuhn reporting—to take my job."
